EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Dear Archie Readers,

Here's the inside scoop on some special issues that everyone should add to their summer reading list.

At the top of my list is SABRINA THE TEENAGE WITCH #17. This very special issue has some very special guests....JOSIE & THE PUSSYCATS! When Sabrina is rejected by a local band, she uses some magic to become a member of the Pussycats, who enter a "Battle of the Bands" contest. When Josie comes down with laryngitis, Sabrina has to fill in for her. Only one problem, Sabrina can't sing. Naturally, Salem, Sabrina's talking cat, has to get into the act. Will this story end on a "sour note"? See what happens. Pick up a copy next month.

Fun at the beach, the latest swimsuits, surfing and maybe a summer job. Yes, a summer job. After all, teenagers need spending money while they're on summer vacation. You'll find this and much more in the latest BETTY & VERONICA SUMMER FUN #5. This ALL-NEW issue will be on sale in July.

Have you read fairy tales to your younger brother or sister, or to someone you babysit? Ever think about creating your own fairy tale? Here's an opportunity to get some pointers from the master storyteller, Jughead Jones. In JUGHEAD #108, Jug weaves a wacky tale for his baby sister, Jellybean. You'll laugh, you'll cry, but mostly likely, you'll have an urge to get a new hairdo. All this will have more meaning when you read "Crowntown."

Continuing towards our goal to compete with "Titanic," Betty and Veronica set sail on an exciting adventure, in a blow-up raft. After falling asleep for quite awhile, they find themselves "Lost At Sea." While this story may not make it to the big screen, it goes great with popcorn. The cover on this issue is worth the price of admission. You won't want to miss the latest issue of BETTY & VERONICA SPECTACULAR #31.

The Alpine Ibex

The Alpine Ibex is a kind of wild goat that lives in the Alps on high mountains in Central Europe. Males live in herds of 40-50 individuals and the females, with their young, live in packs of 12. Older males are often solitary. Baby Ibex walk by the end of their first day and within a few days they can run and jump. They are usually born single or as twins at a weight of 8 pounds. High altitude duels mean the Ibex mating season. Male Ibex use their huge horns to push and shove each other as they compete for females. Both males and females are a height of 34 inches at the shoulder. Males weigh about 220 pounds and females weigh about 90 pounds. Their diet consists of grasses, shrubs, herbs and other small plants. Their most common enemy is the golden eagle.

SECOND PRIZE

The Southern Hemisphere

The bottom half of the earth is called the southern hemisphere. The equator is the imaginary line that divides the earth into hemispheres. It is a lot different from where we live here in the northern hemisphere. The southern hemisphere has winter in July and August and summer in December and January. Wouldn't it be fun to build a snowman in the summertime?
